Creation Family Camp 2023

July 31 – August 5

Keynote Speaker

Mike Oard has an MS degree in atmospheric science from the University of Washington. After 30 years as a meteorologist with the US National Weather Service, he retired and now is fully devoted to research on the compelling evidence for Noah's flood and the post-flood ice age. He has done considerable study on the woolly mammoths in light of Noah's flood and the ice age. Mike has published several research papers in his field in journals of the American Meteorological Society. His creationist research has been published in technical books, laymen's books, and children's books, as well as in many creationist journals. He also lectures on these subjects and serves on the board of directors of the Creation Research Society in the US.

Retired from the National Weather Service, meteorologist Mike Oard gives fascinating illustrated talks—at an easy-to-understand level—on the compelling evidence for Noah's Flood and the Ice Age that resulted, and how the incredible woolly mammoth connects to biblical history. Based in beautiful Montana, Michael is now accepting invitations to speak all over North America, even with just a few weeks' notice. Michael is married to Beverly and they have four children and ten grandchildren.

Children's Sessions

Concurrent children's sessions for ages 5 to 10 will be presented by Barbara Miller and Anne-Marie Collins.

Statistics are showing that a large percentage (up to 80%) of teens and young adults who are raised in Christian homes and churches are walking away from the Faith, with many never returning. Barbara believes this is due primarily to the Bible being taught as 'stories' (sometimes even as myth), and being reinterpreted to fit the latest 'scientific theories'. She believes that children need to learn the Bible is true history, accurate in all 'scientific references' and a consistent, trustworthy foundation for a correct world view, as well as explaining to us the only way of salvation.
